

Gators vs All Stars: Given what we saw last week all eyes will be on Collingwood here and their ability to respond from a very unlike-Collingwood performance. Also worth noting the All Stars have lost their last two, so they have plenty of pressure on them out at Altona. As for the home team, the season is gone so they can go into this one with no pressure and just a thirst for causing an upset. Expect a statement game from Collingwood.

Panthers vs Dragons: Camberwell showed there was some life in them last week and they'll need to keep that going if they hope to play finals this season. One of the teams they are chasing is Wallan, who beat them first time around by 7pts. Head-to-head could be key here, so watch the game closely down the stretch if the Dragons are up. No word on Kennan Gorski's availability, but chances are the home team won't need him. Panthers to win and end Camberwell's season.

Heat vs Sharks: Mildura return home after a poor weekend onto road and they will want to use the comfort of the Toyota Hothouse to find some form and get back on the winner's list. Calvin Henry and Dallas Brown will again be the keys to Mildura's hopes. The visiting Sharks will like their chances, they are a tight unit and relish close games, usually coming out with a win. This is a great test for the visitors, they have the goods to win on the border - do that and they go up another notch.

Giants vs Bushrangers: Busy weekend on the road for North East, starting here against an in-form Coburg. It's a shame it has taken so long for the Giants to find some touch as they look like one of those teams that could cause some real headaches if they made the finals. As it is they will miss and no doubt rue too many missed opportunities. As for this game - mark down a comfortable win for the home team.

Eagles vs Bushrangers: It won't get any easier for North East on Sunday with Craigieburn waiting for them. We know the class of Kannon Burrage, but it will be interesting to see how he goes against Craigieburn's list of hard-edged stoppers. This game has the potential to blow out, jump on the Eagles' bandwagon. With top spot in their grasp, you get the feeling Liam Watt and his team are about to take it to the next level.

Breakers vs Gators: How could you usable go against Mornington? With the wins starting to roll in, the only question is where has the winning form been? The Breakers are currently showing some real grit at both ends of the floor, sharing the ball well and working hard for each other - the result is a string of wins. All things being equal, you would expect the home team to take care of business here against Altona.

Warriors vs Giants: Everything says a Pakenham win, but this is easily the biggest danger game of the weekend. James Topp is in ripping form for the Warriors and will be hoping to keep that going, while for Coburg the form of Mweemba Maluma has been top notch and once again he will take some stopping. Gunning for a top-two finish, the Warriors have to make sure of the win and if they can limit Maluma and also Jordan Harding, they should have too much firepower for the Giants. Good test.

Altona vs Collingwood	Sat 8pm	Altona Sports Centre
Wallan vs Camberwell	Sat 8pm	RB Robson Stadium
Mildura vs Sth Peninsula	Sat 8pm	Toyota Hothouse
Coburg vs North East	Sat 8:30pm	Coburg Basketball Stadium
Craigieburn vs North East	Sun 2pm	Craigieburn Leisure Centre
Mornington vs Altona	Sun 2pm	Mornington Basketball Stadium
Pakenham vs Coburg	Sun 4pm	Cardinia Life

/BIGVBASKETBALL

@BIGV_BALL

@BIGV_BALL

@BBALLVIC