

With only 3 rounds left what teams will make finals and who will bomb out?

Craigieburn take on Keilor to kick off round 16, Keilor got the better of the Eagles the first time they met way back in round 3 but a lot has changed since then and this will be an interesting match-up Keilor are sitting equal with McKinnon and fighting for 7th position and Craigieburn are sitting in 9th position. Craigieburn were pushed into OT last week against Chelsea even though it was a loss it should still boost their confidence knowing they can push a middle range team.

Coburg have had an outstanding run home to finals winning their last 5 straight including a huge win last week against the number 1 side Camberwell, now they have to back it up against the number 2 side Warrandyte, If Siobhan Mac Aodha & Lyndsey Hoogenhout heat up Warrandyte might be in for some trouble. The Venom had a shocker last week as they went down to McKinnon, they will no doubt be fired and wanting this win to help them forget about the shock loss.

Corio Bay host Chelsea this round, both teams are coming off nice wins and will want to continue the winning feeling, Chelsea need this win more than Corio if they want to keep those finals dreams alive as they are sitting on the edge at the moment, they are relying on other teams to crash and burn in order for them to steal the 5th spot out from under them. Corio have been trekking along smoothly again finally after a bumpy stretch so a win here will surely help the confidence of the girls.

McKinnon took down Warrandyte last week, can they do it again and defeat the number 1 team Camberwell? McKinnon found some hidden strength last week and surprised us all with their 4pt win, no doubt their coach will be calling on that again this week to get another upset win. The Venom will be out for revenge this week and wanting to redeem themselves if they want to finish 1st or 2nd they must keep winning or they will be left behind and over taken.

Werribee head down the highway to take on Corio Bay in what will be another hard contest for them, with a not so great season behind them finishing the season with a couple more wins on the board will do more good than they can imagine especially for those girls who will no longer be in the youth program. Corio Bay took an easy win last time these two played however that was with Tamara Knox who is now out for the remainder of the season, will she be the difference between winning and losing for Werribee?
