

A huge round coming up with nine games to be played and some huge match-ups. Keysborough is still looking for an opening win and will get a chance with games against Western Port and Melton. Neither will be easy but for all three teams involved these games present an ideal opportunity to find some winning form. Calvin Enge, Jonny Kloester and Ben Morwood will all need to fire if the Cougars hope to celebrate. Look for Ricki DeHaan to pace the Steelers, while for Melton the go-to player continues to be Ivan Harris, while Billy Feben certainly has the ability to blow up for a big score. Blackburn heads to Geelong and should take care of business against the inconsistent Supercats. Though he's been playing both levels, there is little doubt Jack Roberts is now a senior player and the Vikings will continue to use him as a key offensive threat. Chelsea has a tough weekend, starting with a trip to Latrobe City where they will need to find a way to keep McWhorter and Jackson under control. We know Corey Standerfer will get his share of the ball at the offensive end, but unless the Gulls can find a way to tighten the screws at the defensive end then this game will probably go the way of the home team. The Gulls are then back at home on Sunday to face the rampaging Thunder. There is plenty to like about Keilor this season, they continually play to their strengths and work together as a team, a great recipe for success as we have seen before in this division. If the Energy and Thunder play to form, it could be a tough weekend for Chelsea, but if Standerfer and his crew can grab one, even two wins, they will be set-up nicely for the middle patch of the season. Warrandyte has a tough gig to tackle down at Warrnambool, but you can be assured they will go down the highway with no fear. The Venom is up and about and happy to take on any challenge, which makes them a legitimate threat in any situation. The Seahawks look to be in top touch with Gynes and Blount leading the charge - as is always the case, if the dynamic duo fires, the Seahawks win. A bigger test awaits Warrnambool on Sunday when they travel to Melbourne to take on Bozeman's Boomers - great match-up, game of the round. Toss a coin, it will be a ripper and a great test for both teams a month into the season. Melbourne Uni has a couple of games as well, at home to Shepparton (finally off the mark) and on the road to Sunbury. We have so far seen the best and worst from the Black Angels, so this weekend could go north or south, who knows? The Gators will far better now having won a game and will be a tough opponent on Saturday, while a trip to The Hanger on Sunday is anything but an easy task. Have fun tipping a winner from these two games, but if Liam Norton finds a way to get going the Black Angels stand far more of a chance at claiming victory. You get the feeling Sunbury is capable of getting on a run, so let's see if they can deliver the goods on their home deck. All up a good weekend with plenty of quality games - all eyes on Chelsea, let's see what they're made of, while a big chance for Keysie to score a win.

Keysborough vs Western Port
Geelong vs Blackburn
Latrobe City vs Chelsea
Warrnambool vs Warrandyte
Melbourne Uni vs Shepparton
Sunbury vs Melbourne Uni
Melton vs Keysborough
Chelsea vs Keilor
Bulleen vs Warrnambool

Sat 7pm
Sat 7pm
Sat 8pm
Sat 8pm
Sat 8:30pm
Sun 2pm
Sun 2pm
Sun 2pm
Sun 3pm

Rowville Secondary College
The Geelong Arena
Latrobe Leisure Traralgon
The Arc
Melbourne Uni Sports Centre
Boardman Stadium
Caroline Springs Leisure Centre
Patterson River Stadium
East Doncaster Secondary College

/BIGVBASKETBALL

@BIGV_BALL

@BIGV_BALL

@BBALLVIC